
Censoring is self-reinforcing: a downward-biased forecast orders less, which raises the chance of another stockout next period.